Erin Menzies

is a summer student at Lenczner Slaght.

At Windsor Law, Erin has served as a caseworker at Community Legal Aid in Windsor and the Federal Pro Se Clinic at the Eastern Michigan District Court. She is also a teaching assistant for the 1L Comparative Legal Writing and Research course, where she leads students through the development of foundational legal skills.

Erin's commitment to advocacy and leadership is reflected in her roles as an executive member of Windsor's Criminal Law Association and Women and the Law, where she advocates for important legal perspectives within the profession. Her academic excellence has also been recognized with the CALI Excellence for the Future Award for the 1L Legal Writing and Research course, an award given to the student achieving the highest grade in the class.

Prior to law school, Erin worked as a caseworker with the John Howard Society of Ontario and as a court clerk with the Ministry of the Attorney General, roles that highlight her commitment to service and purpose.
