

Jordhi Nullatamby

JORDHI NULLATAMBY

is the Fox Scholar at Lenczner Slaght.

Jordhi completed her Law degree from the University of Cambridge. During her studies, Jordhi participated in several mini pupillages with leading law Chambers and recently finished her Bar training at City Law School in London.

Jordhi's speechwriting and public speaking experiences as former UK Youth Delegate and British Youth Council representative initially inspired her decision to train as an advocate. To strengthen her written and oral advocacy skills, Jordhi has participated in several competitive moots, such as the Young Citizens' UK National Bar Mock Trial, St John's College Winfield Moot, and Keating Chambers International Arbitration Moot. She further developed her legal research and drafting skills through several mini pupillages with leading law Chambers.

While at law school, Jordhi won the Cambridge Law Society Pro Bono Award for her commitment to access to justice. Jordhi has held volunteer positions with numerous organizations including Bridges for Enterprise, a social entrepreneurship incubator, and Advocate, the national pro bono charity of England and Wales.

Prior to joining Lenczner Slaght, Jordhi was awarded the Lord Denning Scholarship from The Honourable Society of Lincoln's Inn and COMBAR Scholarship from The Commercial Bar Association of England and Wales.

Education

City, University of London (2023) Bar Vocational Studies
University of Cambridge (2022) BA (Law)

Contact

T 416-865-9500 ext. 738
jnullatamby@litigate.com

SELECT NEWS ARTICLES

- ▶ Lenczner Slaght Welcomes Fox Scholar, Jordhi Nullatamby – We are pleased to have Jordhi Nullatamby join us as our 2023/2024 Fox Scholar!

PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES

- ▶ The Honourable Society of Lincoln's Inn