Kristina Schmuttermeier

is an associate at Lenczner Slaght.

Kristina is developing a broad litigation practice, including commercial litigation, complex regulatory investigations, constitutional law, construction law and professional liability matters. Prior to being called to the Bar, Kristina summered and articled at Lenczner Slaght.

Kristina graduated from the University of Ottawa, Faculty of Law. During law school, Kristina served as a Senior Editor of the Ottawa Law Review and also held the role of the Journal's Treasurer. Kristina competed in the Donald Bowman Tax Moot and in the Nelligan Law Moot, where she placed as a semi-finalist and worked as a research assistant on a variety of issues, including equity in tax law, gender-related policies and inclusive access rights.

Kristina is also passionate about finance and earned her Chartered Accountant designation in 2016. Kristina previously practiced auditing, accounting, and tax at a Big 4 firm and a global public accounting firm in the GTA.
