Lenczner Slaght Recognized for Patent Litigation Excellence by LMG Life Sciences

Lenczner Slaght is pleased to announce its continued recognition for patent litigation expertise in the latest edition of LMG Life Sciences, following an in-depth qualitative research process that included peer and client feedback.

In addition to the firm's ranking, Sana Halwani and Jordana Sanft are recognized among the best of those practicing in the life sciences industry, while Martin Brandsma is recognized as a Rising Star. Our intellectual property lawyers have the technical expertise necessary to understand any life sciences product, and the trial experience and advocacy expertise to protect them successfully.

We were also proud to be shortlisted for two awards this year:

- Patent Litigation Firm of the Year (Canada)
- Life Cycle Firm of the Year (Canada)
