

Maria Puscas
416-865-3717
mpuscas@litigate.com

December 22, 2022

Rare Diseases and Space Health: Optimizing Synergies From Scientific Questions to Care

Maria Puscas co-authored an article examining the intersection of rare disease research and astronaut health, highlighting how shared challenges such as limited data, small sample sizes, and urgent demands for treatment can drive cross-disciplinary innovation. The piece explores how collaboration and knowledge sharing between these fields can accelerate research progress and improve health outcomes both in space and on Earth. (Prior to joining Lenczner Slaght)

Continue reading: <https://doi.org/10.1038/s41526-022-00224-5>