Updating Marquard: A Proposal to Allow the Use of “Authoritative Literature” in the Cross-Examination of Experts

Madison Robins authored the article, "Updating Marquard: A Proposal to Allow the Use of “Authoritative Literature” in the Cross-Examination of Experts," published by The Law Society of Saskatchewan's Advocates Quarterly Collection. In the article, Madison proposes expanding the trial judge's gatekeeping role in the cross-examination of expert witnesses using authoritative literature.
