

Vale v Roland

Successful motion by the defendants for an order quashing notices of examination and a motion to set aside a consent order on the grounds that the notices and motion were frivolous, vexatious and an abuse of process.

